On the facts: the Court ordered the Defendants to allow Plaintiffs to examine the internal memory of the DRE machines. There is no dispute that Fulton County has not done so. Fulton County did not even make its machines available until yesterday, three days before trial, and when it did so it was technically unable to give Plaintiffs access to the internal memory. This is undisputed. The essential fact remains that Plaintiffs, now 36 hours from trial, have not been granted the limited discovery that this Court ordered – and that Plaintiffs originally sought six weeks ago. This is not disputed.

What also is not in dispute is that Fulton County (and now Gwinnett) have no plans to figure out how to make the internal memory available. In the "no good deed goes unpunished" category, the Secretary now blames Plaintiffs' expert for proposing ways that Fulton County can do what the Order requires without damaging the internal memory, by using a special erasable programable read only memory (EPROM) chip. Fulton County does not have to use the EPROM method, but it does have to comply with the Court's Order and, it if does not like the EPROM method, it can do so with the technology of its own selection. What it cannot do is refuse to comply with the Court's Order and "run out the clock."

The Secretary's Brief does not disclose Plaintiffs' proposed protocol - a glaring, inexcusable omission. Plaintiffs proposed last week that Fulton County copy the internal memory and allow Plaintiffs to examine the copy – examining a copy is the only way to conduct a forensic examination without potentially altering the memory and destroying evidence. This protocol was originally explained in an email on January 10, and then explained in greater detailed in Plaintiffs' expert's January 11, 2019 affidavit, another copy of which was filed yesterday with the Motion for Continuance.

Most important, neither the Secretary nor Defendant Duncan disagree that, as a factual matter, it is impossible for Plaintiffs to conduct reasonable discovery in this time frame.

B. Law

Neither Defendant Duncan nor the Secretary have any response to Plaintiffs' legal argument for continuance. But the law is clear: the Election Contest Statute does not mandate accelerated proceedings or set arbitrary deadlines, but instead contemplates that the trial court use its plenary power to gain a "full and proper understanding" of the matter. O.C.G.A. § 21-2-525(b). The Election Contest Statute further states that the case is to proceed "in like manner and to the same extent as in other civil cases." Id. The Civil Practice Act in turn states that "the court shall in all cases afford to the parties reasonable time for discovery." O.C.G.A. § 9-11-40 (emphasis added).

And the Secretary and Defendant Duncan do not attempt to apply this law to the undisputed facts, for that too cannot reasonably be disputed: three days to a week is not a "reasonable time for discovery" in any case, much less a state-wide election contest involving an investigation of why complex electronic voting machines malfunctioned.

The Secretary and Defendant Duncan also to not counter Plaintiffs' argument citing a number of Supreme Court cases, in each of which the plaintiffs appear to have been given full discovery, whether that involved an opportunity to find and count every misspelled absentee ballot, Mead v. Sheffield, 278 Ga. 268 (2004), or to investigate allegedly mis-calibrated voting machines, Taggart v. Phillips, 242 Ga. 454, 455 (1978). And, they do not disagree that in no case found by Plaintiffs has any court compromised the full and proper adjudication of the issues in order to obtain a faster decision. E.g., McIntosh Cty. Bd. of Elections v. Deverger, 282 Ga. 566, 566 (2007) (four months after the general election, the trial court ordered a new election; the Supreme Court affirmed); Taggart v. Phillips, 242 Ga. 454, 455 (1978) (two months after election, the Supreme Court reversed the trial court's dismissal of contest petition and remanded for further proceedings).

Defendant Duncan's brief is in effect a motion for reconsideration of the denial of his motion to dismiss. Though improper, Plaintiffs will respond briefly. As to the facts relating to the drop-off, none of what Defendant Duncan says explains why the unprecedented drop in votes for the Lt. Governor's race appeared only with the votes on electronic machines, and not on the votes cast on paper ballots. If the drop-off was because of not having a third-party candidate, for example, why didn't this drop off appear in votes on paper ballots for the same race? (And why didn't that drop off appear on other races, like the race for attorney general, that also did not have a third-party candidate?) What, other than system malfunction, could explain such a difference? Defendant Duncan does not, cannot, answer that question.

This case needs to be tried, and a continuance is necessary for the trial to be fair and to comply with the law.

Respectfully submitted this 15th day of January, 2019.

Defense Counsel,

I am in receipt of Mr. Brown's Motion to Supplement the Record in this case. Some of the emails have been omitted. Please let me have your response as soon as possible.

Thank you.

Judge:

I have attached Plaintiffs' Motion to Supplement the Record with copies of email communications between the Court and counsel. At the end of the motion is a proposed order granting same.

Judge, we have filed a pre-notice of appeal motion for expedited consideration with the Georgia Supreme Court. Your Order dated January 18, 2019 fully disposes of the matter and is therefore appealable as a final judgment, and Plaintiffs will shortly be filing a formal notice of appeal.

Many thanks, again,

Respectfully,

Bruce Brown

Judge Grubbs:

Fulton County courts are closed today, but Secretary Raffensperger will not be filing an opposition response to the Petitioners' Motion.

Best regards,
JB
